PLANS MADE FOR COMING COUNTY FAIR

Libertyville Fair This Year to Surpass All Previous Occasions

SEPTEMBER 5 TO 9 IS DATE

Present indications are that this year's Libertyville county fair is going over with a bang. Never before has there been so much enthusiasm among the ranks of those who are working in the interests of the fair. The public has been awakened to the realization that Lake county can and will have an exposition this year that will outstrip anything of its kind in this section of the country.

The premium list is off the press and in the hands of the public and the county has been thoroughly billed with fair advertising of various kinds.

Every division of the Fair association is beginning to show results and beginning to indicate results as never before. The swine division at present reports applications for over one hundred pens of hogs. This, in itself, is more than the figure for last year's fair and the entry campaign is not half under way. The cattle division is going much stronger than at this time last year and indications are that there will be a better class and a bigger number of pure bred cattle on display this year than ever before. Entries in the various other departments, such as poultry, education (schools), Sunday schools, farm produce, fancy work, art work, etc., are coming in gratifying numbers.

The Lake County Automotive association has plans well under way for the largest local display of motor vehicles yet attempted. One large canvas measuring sixty feet by two hundred feet has been ordered to house the passenger car exhibit, while a tent fifty feet by one hundred feet has been secured to house the truck show. There is little doubt that these accommodations will prove too small before fall and that another tent will have to be secured to properly house this department. The public is assured of a treat in the way of the latest in automobiles and other motor vehicles.

Although extensive improvements have been made to accommodate visiting horsemen at the race track, the men in charge declare that the speed program is attracting so many entries that the barns will not begin to care for the horses during the fair. This summer the track has been the scene of training for an exceptional string of harness animals. At one time during the summer months about fifty head were conditioning at the fair grounds. Some of the horses have since gone on the circuits and have been making enviable time. The speed program is far more attractive than has ever been offered and excels that offered by any nearby fair.

The midway this year will be the scene of the best and largest variety of amusement, refreshment and entertainment concessions ever gotten together at a similar festival in this county. There will be high class carnival shows, riding devices, games of chance and skill, vaudeville acts, free exhibitions, band concerts, novelty acts and speeches every day and evening. Passenger-carrying airplanes have been contracted to carry those who desire to soar into the clouds. A feature of this year's fair will be the nightly display of fireworks. The latest in spectacular fireworks has been purchased for the amusement of the public during the fair.

One of the most interesting events scheduled for the fair are the daily base ball games. One game a day between all-Lake county teams. No team will be allowed to play more than once during the fair and the teams must be composed of men who reside in this county. The base ball ening. They have chosen as their picture Norma Talmadge in "Yes or No?"

The proceeds from this entertainment will be used to purchase waste paper receptacles for the village.

The admission for this feature picture will be thirty-five cents and children twenty cents.

Boxing and Wrestling are Day's Features

The second annual "Lake Villa Day" Saturday, August 13, promises to be an even bigger day than last year. The committee in charge headed by Frank T. Fowler have spared no means to "put over" one of the greatest single day's attraction ever produced this side of Brockton, Mass., but at that Brockton has to use four days to put their attraction across, and according to the program announced by the managers, the writer, who has visited of the famous Eastern shows, fails to see anything lacking in the Lake Villa affair that was given as an attraction at the Brockton Fair.

One of the features of this show will be the producing of an exhibition boxing bout given by the boys of the Great Lakes training station and this no doubt will be a big attraction for the women folks who have never witnessed this side of the men's vocabulary.

The committee announce that the traffic will be taken care of by a special force of police for the day. Former Officer Congdon of Antioch will be among the men present to take charge of the traffic.

Indictments Near for Milk Barons, Says Poole

Despite the threats of Russell J. Poole, of Chicago, secretary of the council high living-cost committee, to bring the milk trust before the grand jury, W. J. Kittle, of the Milk Producers' association said recently that there was no immediate likelihood of a drop in the price of milk.

"Yes, there is plenty of milk," said Mr. Kittle, "but the farmers at this time refuse to accept a slash in what they claim is a reasonable price when considering the cost of other commodities."

"Milk that is now selling for 14 cents a quart should be selling for 10 and 11 cents," declared Mr. Poole, "and with the power of this office I intend to bring all milk barons who ignore the necessity of cutting the price of milk before the grand jury. We are gathering evidence for the jury that we feel satisfied will instigate the return of several indictments against members of the milk trusts."

Enters Garage and Rips All Tires on Ford Car

Robert Smart, of West Lake street, was visited by unwelcome guests Thursday evening when someone broke into his garage and ripped two of the tires on his car with a small knife, breaking the blade, which remained in the casing. Being unable to use the knife, drove nails into the remaining two tires.

Mr. Smart had practically the same experience last year and is making an effort to place the guilty party under arrest.

LAKE VILLA LIKELY TO GET ROUTE 21

A hearing on the course of route 21 was held in the Tiger room of the Sherman hotel, Chicago, Friday, July 29, and was attended by many prominent men of this section of the state.

Representatives of the different sections of the state were allowed a period of 15 minutes in which to present their arguments as to the course this route should take. John A. Thain, a farmer from Wadsworth, was the first to be called on. Mr. Thain put up a creditable argument for the routing of the highway via the Libertyville, Fremont and Milwaukee road to Antioch. R. W. Churchill, of Grayslake, followed shortly after him with a very strong plea for the Grayslake-Lake Villa route.

F. W. Hamlin, president of the village of Lake Villa, was then called on and he presented the village's attorney, Mr. Welch, of Waukegan, to plead their cause and he presented data which rumor has since proved that appears to be the logical and most economical routing of this road. This rumor shows the most likely routing as follows: Belvidere road, then north on the east side of the Soo Line to present road to Grayslake to Lake Villa road and thence northeast and north to Antioch. This road will eliminate two grade crossings and one school at Grayslake. The grade crossing at Lake Villa will be eliminated by a natural elevation lying 600 feet north of the present grade.

Frank R. King, president of the village of Antioch, was one of the men to be called on. He stated that the citizens of his town appeared to be evenly split on the route to Antioch and therefore expressed himself as being neutral, but asserted that what he would like to see was "some cement."

Among some of those who attended the meeting were Frank T. Fowler, of Lake Villa; Nason Sibley, Earnest Brook, Herbert Vos and Butch Rogers, all of Antioch.

A. & P. Store Wins "Ad"

This week's best window display was won by the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. The vote this week was a rather complicated affair, each of the judges selecting a different first choice—namely: A. & P. store, Peterson, the tailor; and Ross' restaurant, while Otto Klass received two second choices, the A. & P. store received one, thus giving the latter one first and one second.

Next week three members of the Antioch Woman's club, to be appointed by the president, Mrs. Dayton will be the judges and it is up to the merchants to get busy and brighten their display window. The selection will be made on Tuesday morning.

Fox River and Lakes Ass'n Progressing With Work

The Fox River and Lakes Improvement association states that the work at the McHenry dam is now progressing very rapidly, and the manner in which the work is being handled and the equipment for doing same would be of interest to the residents of the district if they were to visit the site of the dam.

Weed cutters are now available for private cutting, which will be done for members at a nominal cost. Many members have availed themselves of this service, and for the first time in years have had beaches free from weeds.

Any members wishing this service can communicate with A. V. Hannifan, McHenry, Ill., telephone 643-R-2. The association also asks that residents of the district refrain from tying boats to the channel markers, and would appreciate the assistance in replacing markers that have tipped over or knocked down.

Offers Beach Accommodations

Geo. Mason at Channel Lake offers bathers the privilege of his beach and says he can accommodate a number of bathers with dressing room facilities arranged in the basement of his home. Mr. Mason has a beautiful beach and pier on his property at Channel Lake.

Thieves Enter Local Store; Steal Tickets

Sunday evening thieves broke into the store of Hillebrand & Shultis by removing a panel in the door and taking a number of Soo Line railroad tickets. These tickets were numbered and registered, but in order to cover all tracks, the thief, who no doubt was familiar with the business system, included this book in his haul.

Late Thursday evening or early Friday morning the plate glass window in the door of his store was broken, evidently on purpose, as the window is protected by a screen, it being necessary to open the door to break the glass. Mr. Hillebrand is unable to determine whether it was broken by a pop bottle which was found in the hallway beside the window or whether it was caused by a bullet, fired at a close range. It has all appearances of a bullet mark, but it is impossible to find where the bullet lodged within the store.

Mr. Hillebrand is making every effort to find the miscreants.

RESALE OF TICKETS ARE TAXABLE

In a communication from Representative Carl R. Chindblom the following letter answers the question of the tax payable on resale of railroad tickets used on the Soo Line by Antioch residents.

The letter follows:
J. C. James, Esq., Antioch, Ill. Dear Judge: A letter addressed by you to the treasury department, Washington, D. C., but containing the notation "Hon. John C. Cannon by to Hon. Neil Tanner, chief sales tax division," somehow reached my colleague, Congressman Joseph C. Cannon. He forwarded the letter to me because you live in my district. I have taken up the matter in which you are interested with the treasury department and am informed that the department has held so far that there is no authority for charging the tax on less than the full price of a railroad ticket which has been resold. In other words if you buy a ticket for 85 cents on which a railroad company has paid the tax and you resell that ticket for $1.10 you will have to pay the full tax on $1.10. However, the department is reconsidering the question and may reach a different conclusion hereafter. The question has been raised with the department by a number of persons and so far the department has always rendered the opinion that the full tax should be paid on the resale price. The revenue law does not seem to cover a case of resale of railroad transportation. The framers of the law probably did not contemplate any trading in railroad tickets. Yours very truly,
CARL R. CHINDBLOM.

MERCHANTS AND CITIZENS TURN OUT IN GREAT NUMBERS TO PROTEST OFFICER'S ACTION

Regular Meeting of Village Board Adjourned for Lack of Quorum, Due to Resignations of Four

VILLAGE IS UNABLE TO TRANSACT BUSINESS

The largest gathering that ever attended a meeting of the Village Trustees were on hand Tuesday night when the regular meeting was to have been held. The town hall was packed to overflowing, a large number being unable to get into the hall.

The regular meeting was called to order by the Village Clerk, Mr. Harry Isaacs, and after the roll call, of which only two members of the Board of Trustees answered, the President, F. R. King called for adjournment on account of a lack of quorum.

Mr. King then explained what had taken place prior to the meeting, which led up to the resigning of four members of the Village Board. Monday morning President King requested the resignation of Officer Congdon after many complaints from local merchants and residents of surrounding villages as well as from tourists from all parts of the country as to the uncivil and inhuman treatment received while being placed under arrest.

It being Mr. King's object to ask his resignation until the evening of the regular meeting, when the village board was to take action on this matter, Mr. Congdon refused to hand in his resignation, forcing the Village President to oust him and relieving him of star and uniform. Mr. King, in Tuesday's mail received the resignations from the Village Board of Fred Hawkins, Nason Sibley, L. B. Grice and Chas. Richards, which followed shortly after the Congdon dismissal. He accepted these resignations.

After the President's explanations of affairs a free for all argument arose as to the arresting of speeders and Officer Congdon seemed to be the "goat." Testimony after testimony was directed at the former officer and time after time he was booed by the audience. Representatives from many resorts and business houses in and around town gave testimony as to the falling off of business due to tourists refusing to stop off at Antioch owing to the activities of the police against motorists.

The four resigned Trustees were present at the meeting, but Mr. Hawkins said they had nothing to say in regard to the affair and they considered the whole meeting a farce.

Mr. O. D. Richardson was one of the prime speakers of the evening and voiced the sentiment of the business interest of the town and the business men showed their appreciation of the stand Mr. Richardson took by frequent applause, as well as Mr. J. H. Wilson, who gave a very excellent talk as to the harm that be done by an overzealous law enforcement and pointed out the difference between reckless and safe driving.

As the matter now stands the village is without a board and is unable to transact any business.

A special election will be necessary to replace the four trustees and a primary election will be held Friday, Aug. 19, and the special village election on Thursday, Sept. 8, 1921.

The News has been neutral on this subject and have received many complaints from the offended. A few of the communications follow:

July 26, 1921.

To the Editor: Dear Sir: For many years I have been proud to consider myself a summer resident of Antioch. During all this time, I believe I have been a liberal patron of your establishment. On this ground I appeal for your co-operation in righting the rotten situation now existing in the enforcement of the so-called speed ordinance. As things now stand Officer Congdon is constable, judge and jury. His temperament does not fit him to play any one of the three roles with any degree of success.

Last Saturday an attempt was made to levy a heavy fine against my chauffeur, not for speeding but for looking at Officer Congdon in what he thought was a disrespectful manner. Was there ever such a farce perpetrated in the great state of Illinois? The merchants of Antioch can right this situation easily if they will only interest themselves in the matter. I understand there is to be a meeting of the board of trustees shortly to discuss this situation. The good name of Antioch, now under a cloud, demands your attendance at this meeting.

Unless something is done, I can promise you an organized effort will be made to divert the trade of the summer residents of Antioch to surrounding villages where it will be safe to do business without fear of being molested by a highwayman in a constable's uniform.

Feeling sure of your co-operation now that your attention has been called to this matter, I remain, very truly yours,

ANDREW T. MURPHY.

Chicago, July 28, 1921.

Dear Sir: Friends of my family who have driven through Antioch to be our week-end guests at Channel Lake have been arrested and fined for alleged offenses against the speed laws of your village. When I heard the charges they did not seem justifiable to me, and now, after hearing a report of the proceedings against Mr. A. T. Murphy, I am quite convinced that they were not.

My family is spending its nineteenth summer at Channel Lake and has been a patron of your establishment for many years. Believing that you will agree that our interests, to some extent, are mutual, I feel that you should co-operate and use your best efforts in investigating what has occurred and to correct the manner in which the speed laws are being enforced. Not being a citizen of the community my influence with the board of trustees would be negligible, and I feel obliged to turn to those who are citizens and who should be interested in seeing that my interests are not injured, to use their influence with the village board to bring about a correction as early as possible.

If the prevailing conditions continue, I am quite certain that the summer residents who are now greatly incensed at the treatment they or their friends have received, will do everything within their power and within the laws to retaliate with the only apparent method, viz: refrain from making purchases of Antioch merchants.

Trusting that you will use your best efforts to bring about a more equitable condition and that our heretofore pleasant relations may continue, I am, yours very truly,

RICHARD E. SCHMIDT.

SEE RECORD CROP

Western Canada Farmers Rejoice Over Bountiful Harvest.

Favorable Weather and Fertile Land Combine to Pour Riches into the Hands of Agriculturists.

There are those in nearly every state in the Union who have relatives or friends, or someone they have known, who are residents of some of the provinces of Western Canada. They have gone there to carry on the profession and occupation of farming. Their progress has been carefully watched and such news as may come from them or the country that they have taken partial possession of will be read with interest. Important news just now is the condition of the crops. Newspaper correspondents and government representatives are now in a position, after making a careful survey of conditions, to announce that the crop conditions in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta carry the promise of an early and bountiful harvest and farmers view the outlook with utmost pleasure. Good growing weather has prevailed since seeding and all cereal crops are well advanced. Wheat headed out has long, heavy heads, and big yields are indicated; predictions are being made that the record production per acre in 1915 will be exceeded. Harvesting began in some sections in the early part of August. An interesting feature of the situation is the fact that there are no bad reports from any part of the country from the Red river to the Rocky mountains and from the International boundary to Peace river. There will also be good fruit, vegetable and root crops.

Most remarkable has been the germination of most of the grain. Marquis wheat sown on May 11 was fully headed out on June 30.

Considerable advancement has taken place in the last few years in the growing of corn. Sunflowers are also being grown quite extensively. Both these do wonderfully well. On July 4 the writer was shown a twenty-acre field of corn that had reached a height of upwards of five feet, while a five-acre field of sunflowers close by, was entering for a keen race skyward. Both will doubtless be used for ensilage, to which will be added a splendid crop of alfalfa or sweet clover, which also have proved very successful. Now that corn, sunflowers, sweet clover and alfalfa have taken a liking to the country, it will mean a period of reconstruction in many farming districts, and mixed farming will supersede the period of "grain raising" that, no matter how fertile the soil, no matter how generous it may be in giving forth from its great storehouse of all the properties that have given to Western Canada its well-earned name of the wheat granary of the world, too much may be asked of it; the departure from this into the sphere of more intensive farming, covering many generalities not before indulged in, will add dollars per acre to the value of this productive land. Those who have watched the progress of Western Canada, have been looking for the day when corn and such like can be grown successfully. It has now arrived.

The cattle and dairy industry will be given an impulse that will attract those who have been wedded to this kind of farm life, while none of the interest that may be taken by the grain grower will be lessened. Already there is an influence following the fact that corn and sunflowers can be grown, that is leading to the erection of silos in many parts of the country, all indicating a growing satisfaction as to the great future that lies before it.

Due chiefly to the drop in costs of materials and wages, farmers throughout the prairie provinces are erecting many buildings this year, says the editor and manager of the Prairie Lumbarman, who was a visitor to Vancouver a few days ago. A campaign is under way among the retail lumbermen and farmers, urging the erection of 2,000 silos this year, and this is meeting with success, more plans and specifications having been prepared and more structures being under way probably than at any other time in the history of the West.—Advertiser.

HAVE NEED OF MUCH FOOD

Voracious Appetites of Growing Boys Are Natural and Not to Be Wondered At.

Dr. E. F. Du Bois made extensive studies a few years ago on the food requirements of growing boys, and found that they needed about 25 per cent more than grown men, weight for weight. Now Drs. F. G. Benedict and Mary F. Hendry have made similar studies on girls between twelve and seventeen years of age. These correspond in their results with those made by Dr. Du Bois.

The Journal of the American Medical Association comments that, considered in connection with the usually lively muscular activities of children, which call for liberal expenditure of energy, the facts ascertained explain and justify the large appetites of growing boys.

NORTHCLIFFE IS CALLED A LIAR

King of Great Britain Disputes Alleged Interview With Publisher.

SAYS COMPLETE FABRICATION

Throne Authorizes Statement to House of Commons Denying Any Such Conversations—London Editor Cables Denial.

London, Aug. 1.—Prime Minister Lloyd George in the house of commons read a statement which he said the king had authorized him to read on his majesty's behalf.

"His majesty, the king," the statement says, "has had his attention directed to certain statements reporting an interview with Lord Northcliffe, appearing in the Daily Express and some other newspapers. The statements contained in the report are a complete fabrication. No such conversations as those which are alleged took place, nor were any such remarks as those alleged made by his majesty."

"His majesty also desires it to be made quite clear, inasmuch as the contrary is suggested in the interview, that in his speech to the parliament of northern Ireland he followed the invariable constitutional practice relating to speeches from the throne in parliament."

The interview to which the premier referred quoted King George as saying to Premier Lloyd George just before his majesty left for Ireland:

"Are you going to shoot all the people in Ireland?" to which the premier was quoted as replying:

"No, your majesty."

"Well, then, you must come to some agreement with them," said the king, according to the interview. "This thing can't go on. I can't have my people killed in this manner."

In his introductory remarks Mr. Lloyd George said:

"Statements have appeared in certain organs of the Irish and English press attributing words of grave consequence to his majesty the king relating to Irish policy. They appear in the form of an interview which Lord Northcliffe seems to have given in the United States and to have caused to be forwarded to his newspapers here for publication. "It is quite impossible always to follow these calumnious statements, but here they are of a very categorical character and attribute very serious statements to the sovereign, and present over them are calculated at the present moment, if believed, to prejudice seriously the chances of an Irish settlement."

"I hope this statement (by the king) may do something to sterilize the effects of the criminal malignity which for personal ends is endeavoring to stir up mischief between the allies, misunderstanding between the British empire and the United States and to frustrate the hope of peace in Ireland."

Washington, Aug. 1.—Lord Northcliffe made public a cablegram he said he had sent to the private secretary of King George:

"Please convey to his majesty, with my humble duty, my denial of ever having uttered the word or words as stated by the prime minister. I gave no such interview."

FARM MEASURE IS SHELVED

Bill Is Sidetracked Because of the Illness of the Nebraska Senator.

Washington, Aug. 1.—The administration bill for financing agricultural exports was sidetracked in the senate because of the illness of Senator Norris of Nebraska, who collapsed in the Republican cloakroom after delivering a long attack on the measure.

It was agreed as a "matter of courtesy" to the Nebraska senator, that action be deferred until Monday, when he expects to be able to return.

Senator Norris was reported to have spent a restless night, although it was stated that he is still in a weakened condition.

AID ASKED FOR STARVING RUSS

Maxim Gorky Declares Millions Are on the Verge of Starvation.

GREEK CHURCH ALSO APPEALS

Reds, Starving, Agree to Free American Prisoners—Grain of Many Provinces Burned by Drought, Says Church Head.

New York, Aug. 2.—The text of appeals for aid by Maxim Gorky to the American people and by the Orthodox Greek church to Bishop Manning in New York were made public by soviet interests here as follows:

"Moscow, July 13.—To all honest people: The corn growing steppes are smitten by crop failure, caused by the drought. The calamity threatens starvation to millions of Russian people. Think of the Russian people's exhaustion by the war and revolution, which considerably reduced its resistance to disease and its physical endurance.

"Gloomy days have come for the country of Tolstoy, Dostoyevsky, Menzhevik, Pavlov, Mussorgsky, Glinka and other world-prized men, and I venture to trust that the cultured European and American people, understanding the tragedy of the Russian people, will immediately succor with bread and medicines.

"If humanitarian ideas and feelings—faith in whose social import was so shaken by the damnable war and its victims' unmercifulness toward the vanishing—if faith in the creative force of those ideas and feelings, I say, must and can be restored. Russia's misfortune offers humanitarians a splendid opportunity to demonstrate the vitality of humanitarianism.

"I think particularly warm sympathy in succoring the Russian people must be shown by those who, during the ignominious war, so passionately preached fratricidal hatred, thereby withering the educational efficacy of ideas evolved by mankind in the most arduous labors and so lightly killed by stupidity and cupidity.

"People who understand the words of agonizing pain will forgive the involuntary bitterness of my words.

"I ask all honest European and American people for prompt aid to the Russian people. Give bread and medicine. MAXIM GORKY."

The Greek church appeal was given out as follows:

"Moscow, July 11, 1921.—To His Eminence, the Rt. Rev. Bishop of New York: Right Reverend Sir—Through you I appeal to the North American nation. There is famine in Russia. A great part of the population is doomed to a hunger death.

"The corn of many provinces, formerly the country's granary, is now burned by drought. All other considerations must be cast aside.

"The people are dying, the future is dying, because the population is deserting home, lands, fields, farms and is fleeing eastward, crying for bread. Delay spells an unprecedented calamity. Send immediately bread and medicine. I am sending a similar appeal to the English people through the archbishop of Canterbury.

"Pray may God avert His wrath. TIKHON."

"Patriarch of Moscow and All Russia."

Riga, Aug. 2.—The offer of Herbert Hoover to aid Russia in relieving suffering due to famine on condition that all Americans now held prisoner in Russia be released has been accepted by the Russian authorities, who suggest immediate negotiations in order to realize speedy assistance, according to a dispatch from the Rosta news Agency of Moscow, received here.

The American government representatives in Riga consider the note of acceptance as constituting also an answer to the demand made by Secretary of State Hughes for the release of the American prisoners in Russia.

O. K.'S FUNDING DEBT

Plan for Dealing With Allies Approved by Senate Committee.

Administration Bill Carries an Amendment Requiring That Funding Be Completed Within Five Years.

Washington, July 30.—Favorable report on the administration bill giving the treasury blanket authority to conduct negotiations for the funding of the allied debts, was ordered by the senate finance committee. It carries a committee amendment requiring that the funding be completed within five years.

Secretary Mellon formally advised the senate finance committee, in reply to a committee inquiry as to his views regarding the extent to which the United States had been committed under the Wilson administration on deferment of payments of allied war loans and interest.

The government was committed, he said, to postponement of interest payments for two or three years, and subsequent spreading out of postponed payments, "contingent upon such foreign governments carrying out with reasonable promptness, after this government is ready to proceed, a satisfactory funding of its existing short-time obligations to this country."

Mr. Mellon added that he did not think any obligation had been imposed on the government through negotiations in London between Mr. Rathbone of the treasury and a British official, frequently discussed in finance committee hearings.

The secretary's communication was in the form of a letter to Chairman Penrose and was presented personally in connection with Mr. Mellon's further argument in favor of prompt passage of the administration's bill providing blanket powers for the treasury in dealing with allied loans.

RIOTING CALLS OUT TROOPS

Two Companies of Vermont Guard Policing Bellows Falls in Paper Strike.

Bellows Falls, Vt., Aug. 1.—Two companies of National Guard troops are here to maintain order following rioting in which shots were fired, presumably by striking workers of the International Paper company mills. The rioting started, according to State Attorney Whitney, when 11 shots were fired from the North Walpole (N. H.) shore of the Connecticut river into a strikebreakers' camp on the Vermont side.

A riot call was sent to Rutland, and Adjutant General Herbert Johnson ordered out Company I of Brattleboro and Company A of Rutland. The men were loaded into motorbuses and rushed to Bellows Falls, where they began the work of policing the town. Trouble has appeared inevitable since the start of the strike.

ALIGHTS ON MOUNT BLANC

Swiss Airman Lands on the Summit of the Highest Mountain of the Alps.

Chamonix, France, Aug. 2.—Mount Blanc, the highest summit of the Alps, was conquered by Durand, a Swiss flyer, who had previously failed in two attempts to land on the summit. Settling out from Lausanne, he rose to a great height and ultimately effected a landing on the mountain peak, 15,782 feet above sea level.

PLYMOUTH SEES NEW MAYFLOWER

Presidential Yacht Carries Harding to Pilgrim Ter-Centenary Celebration.

U. S. EXECUTIVE IN PARADE

President in Speech Predicts Disarmament Conference Called by Him Will Usher in New Era for World—Lauds Pilgrims.

Plymouth, Mass., Aug. 3.—Another Mayflower came to Plymouth Monday, this one the presidential yacht bringing President Harding and an official party to join in formal observance of the ter-centenary of the landing of the Pilgrims.

The Mayflower's passengers of 300 years ago landed on a wild coast marked only by Indian trails. These made landing to an official welcome in scenes that offered striking contrast with those that faced the fathers. Through the streets of the town streamed thousands of persons—100,000 was estimated—governors, lesser officials, men of high social degree and those of labor.

In this parade the President himself took part both as participant and reviewer. The parade and other incidents served to set the scenes for the principal feature of the day's commemorative program, public exercises beginning at 4 p. m., at which President Harding delivered his only speech of the day and his only address of the summer.

A hope that the disarmament conference called by the United States may bring to the world a new era of peace and freedom was expressed by President Harding in his address.

"A new hope looms today," said the President. "We are slowly but very surely recovering from the sorrows and utter disarrangements of a cataclysmical war. Peace is bringing its new assurances, and penitent realization and insistent conscience will preserve that peace. Our faith is firmer that war's causes may be minimized and overburdening armament may be largely diminished. And these, too, without surrender of the nationality which has inspired or the good conscience which has defended.

"The international prospect is more than promising, and the distress and depression at home are symptomatic of early recovery. Solvent financially, sound in policy, unrivaled in genius, unexcelled in industry, resolute in determination and unwavering in faith, these United States will carry on.

"It is not too much to say that the three centuries which have passed since men of our race came here to found a new state have been the most momentous and the most pregnant in all the progress of human kind.

"To this and the Virginia shore were transplanted the seeds of representative democracy, the new ideals of nationality through association and representation, and there has developed, seemingly, the most dependable form of popular government ever witnessed in the world.

"The community of free people of our race, whether in Europe or America, in Africa or Australia, under the northern or southern skies, was begun when Jamestown and Plymouth were founded. It has carried its ideals wherever it has set its standard. It has won recognition of these ideals as the basis of social conduct, of community relations throughout the world, its work is not finished, but, pray God, it has come triumphantly through its determining ordeal. It comes forth from that test, nerve and heartened for further tasks; confident, assured, reliant. None questions either its place or its right of leadership; few doubt its destiny to establish, under that divine guidance, the splendid structure of human brotherhood in peace and understanding.

"The outstanding danger of today is the tendency to turn to Washington for the things which are the tasks or the duties of the 48 commonwealths which constitute the nation.

"Here was early dedication to religious liberty and political freedom. It was a sublime gift to posterity. We cannot better express our reverence today than by sweeping aside the errors, the failures, the disappointments, the betrayals of our day, and the plant here for all America and all the world the standards of highest justice and real human brotherhood. This would add to the volume of rejoicing on earth and give echo to the heavens of the nobler aspirations of united mankind. It would dim no torch of liberty which was lighted here, but would set the world aglow with new hopes, new confidence and new exaltation."

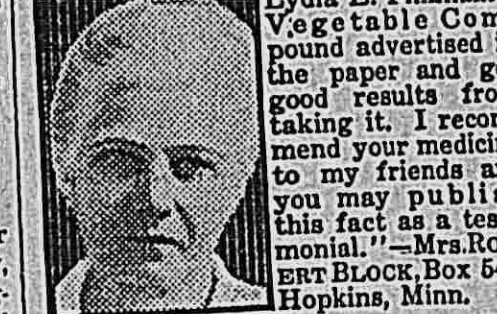

Mail Robber Chief Nabbed. Chicago, Aug. 3.—John W. Worthington, head of the Central Securities company, was arrested by federal agents as the "brains" of a band of mail robbers. Owen T. Evans, his partner in the company, was arrested.

Fillipino Customs Chief Acquitted. Manila, Aug. 3.—Maj. Mauro Arlegui, chief of the customs service of the Philippine Islands, has been acquitted of charges in connection with the theft of 700 cans of opium which had been seized by government agents.

HOW WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

May Escape the Dreaded Sufferings of that Period by Taking Mrs. Block's Advice

Hopkins, Minn.—"During Change of Life I had hot flashes and suffered for two years. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the paper and got good results from taking it. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you may publish this fact as a testimonial."—Mrs. Robert Block, Box 542, Hopkins, Minn.

It has been said that not one woman in a thousand passes this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, sinking spells, spots before the eyes, dizzy spells, nervousness, are only a few of the symptoms. Every woman at this age should profit by Mrs. Block's experience and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., about your health. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Antioch Defeats Telephone Co.

The locals added another game to their list last Sunday by defeating the Wisconsin Telephone Co., of Kenosha to a score of 6 to 2.

The game was a close one all through and some fast playing was put into action.

Wilton did the pitching for the locals and was at his best during the entire game, only allowing three hits. Smith pitched for visitors and let the locals get away with five hits and at times he was a little wild hitting some of the players, he was relieved by Miller in the eighth.

One of the locals told a News reporter this that he would like to make a suggestion that if the players were kept by themselves and not let run all over the diamond visiting with every one that they could get their mind on their work and produce a better class of ball playing and especially cut out the arguments.

Next Sunday the locals will play with Renehan's Colts from Avon on the local diamond. Every fan that is interested in good clean base ball come out Sunday and help the boys, co-operate with them.

Powdered Fish Good Food.

A great many fish are caught merely for the recovery of the oil contained in their bodies and after this is pressed out, the residue or what is called "cake," is used for fertilizer. A Japanese investigator has succeeded in making this available as a food and it is said to be very nourishing after the treatment which he gives it. It takes the place of "stock" in making soups and gravies.

Few Killed by Hailstones.

One of the unsolved mysteries is why people are so rarely killed by hailstones. Only one case has been recorded in Europe. Such fatalities have happened more often in India than anywhere else. In the Moradabad district, May 1, 1888, about 250 persons were killed by a hailstorm.

Local and Personal Happenings

Mr. and Mrs. James McVey left last week by automobile for Denver, Colo.

Mrs. Cole Little and her daughter (from Michigan) left last week for Colorado.

Ray Smith of Dwight, Ill., come up to Antioch to do a little fishing over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kinrade of West Bend, Wis., are visiting with Mr. Kinrade's parents here.

The fourth annual outing of the Griess-Pfleger Tanning company of both Chicago and Waukegan tanneries was held at Avon park and Round Lake last Sunday.

Joseph Kempiners, 13 years old, residing at 5151 Gray's street, Chicago, son of Louis Kempiners, was drowned at noon Saturday at Gage's Lake where he and the family of a neighbor were spending a few days vacation.

Great interest was shown in the bicycle races at Libertyville Saturday afternoon. It was a good old time bicycle race with the contestants just as much in earnest as if the prizes had been big cash prizes. The boys rode for the sport and they played fair.

The people of Antioch will be very fortunate to be able to hear Miss Kane McDuffee, who has the reputation of being the finest lady whistler on the stage today—she comes directly from New York—from the biggest vaudeville circuit in United States and its only through her friendship for Mrs. Gilbert and it being her vacation time that we are able to secure so great an artist—she alone is worth more than the admission price.

Double Circus Has Vast Program

The announcement that the famed Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows are to exhibit at Chicago, Saturday, July 30, to Sunday night, August 14, has aroused no end of interest.

Twice each day for almost two months New York's great Madison Square Garden was packed with those who thronged to see this biggest program in circus history. They saw scores of the jungle's most ferocious beasts, subjugated to such a degree, that these beautiful animals leaped to and rode on the backs of elephants and horses, jumped through hoops of fire, opened their mouths that their men and women trainers might lay their heads and hands inside them, or leaped from pedestal to pedestal like trained dogs. And these marvelous dumb actors are all on tour with the great double circus. The four immense steel arenas in which they perform are set up in the mammoth main tent. There is no additional charge everything is on the one program. And by "everything" is meant not only the wild animal displays, but the entire circus. More than 600 men and women, embracing the world's foremost arenic stars, take part. There are almost 100 clowns. Aside from the ferocious beasts, the program includes thirty trained elephants. Troops of camels perform in the rings. There are five companies of trained seals, many dogs, bears, monkeys, pigs and pigeons. Fully seventy trained horses and Shetlands are presented. It is the biggest circus program the world has ever seen, given under the largest tent and, in connection, is the famous combined Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey menagerie.

NEWS OF VARIOUS KINDS

The article on the near pinch of Bryan in the Waukegan Sun figured on the front page of practically every newspaper in the United States last week in connection with the arrest of the Hon. William Jennings Bryan at Antioch and Zion. A feature writer on the Chicago Daily News, when a Sun reporter telephoned him the item, exclaimed: "Well, that's what I'd call a good story, if I ever heard one." He wrote a half column about it.

The St. Paul railroad company has taken down the building at the Wilson station crossing, which has been responsible for many accidents, a number of which have proved fatal. The building was used as a storage house for hand-cars and railroad tools and was located at a point where it obstructed the view to approaching trains.

The Wisconsin State Poultry Breeder's association will hold their annual meeting August 3 and 4, in Lake Geneva.

Justice of the Peace F. X. Klein of Burlington, last week held court and fined Geno Ingalls and John Edwards, of Chicago, $50 and costs for fishing in Brown's lake without a non-resident fishing license.

Men are being discharged daily from Fort Sheridan where the army contingent is rapidly dwindling to the bare number of soldiers necessary to man the post. Only about 750 men remain and it is expected that by Sept. 1, this number will be reduced to about 200.

When Mrs. James Frederick of Round Lake walked to the front porch of her home last Thursday evening to call her husband to supper. She saw him sitting in the chair where he had been for some time and as she approached him, she told him to "come in to supper." Even then he made no sign of noticing her. It then did not take her long to find that he was dead—he had died without a struggle while sitting in his easy chair. Mr. Frederick died at the age of 86 years and was a retired farmer who, previous to four years ago had lived in Fremont township. With his wife he moved in to the village and followed an inactive life after long years of work on the farm. He leaves several children.

Kenosha county official circles are all astir over the announcement made of the resignation of Peter Fisher Jr., as state's attorney and of Thomas Fleming of Salem as jury commissioner. The resignations are alleged to be a sequel to the work of a special grand jury investigating vice conditions. It is anticipated his statement will lead to a complete investigation of the official life of Kenosha county and bring sensational revelations. James Peterson, owner of the Peterson Auto Truck company of Waukegan, and Manley Whittier, believe that the Almighty intervened to save them from being killed in front of a fast express on the St. Paul railroad Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Wadsworth crossing, when the truck on which they were riding was completely demolished and even the cushion on the seat on which the two men had been sitting was jerked from under them as the train collided with the truck. The Durkin Ice company had sent Mr. Peterson to Gage's Lake, Round Lake and other places to deliver ice cream. They asked him to return by the way of Wadsworth on another errand. As they approached the St. Paul tracks from the west the view was hidden by a house and some trees. However, Whittier who was driving, slackened his speed and approached the tracks cautiously. He thought it was clear and started across.

schedule will be arranged in such a way as to afford the greatest amount of sport for the public. Handsome prizes and cash bonuses are offered for the winners and losers of each game. The base ball diamond has been moved and improved so that the people sitting in the grandstand may see the games without paying an extra charge.

Although it is a little early to give a complete daily program still there has been arranged an incomplete and tentative program which will interest the reader. Monday, September 5, Labor day, will be Union day. All labor unions throughout the county will co-operate with the Fair association on this day to make the day the great day of the fair. Tuesday will probably be Kiwanis day when the Kiwanis clubs in this county will take charge of affairs and put the program over for the public. Wednesday will be judging day when all exhibits of whatever nature will be judged and prizes awarded. Thursday will be farm bureau day when the county farm bureau will take charge of the program and turn out in great numbers for a successful day. Friday and Saturday while as important and interesting as the preceding days, have not as yet been designated, but will be before the opening of the fair. But every day will be interesting and will be replete with good harness and running races, base ball games, amusements, airplane flights, concerts, etc.

To those who are interested in exhibiting at the fair or are interested in knowing of the work of the association the premium list book will prove of considerable value. These books may be had free of charge by applying to the secretary, John G. Wirtz, Area, Ill. The book is much larger and better than in previous years and carries a premium list, rules and regulations, speed program, road department, and many other departments equally as attractive.

The prices of admission are nominal this year, but the public is urged to purchase season tickets, on which considerable saving may be realized. These tickets can be obtained for the price of $2 by applying to Mr. Wirtz.

Barnett and Burgett, of Waukegan, are feeling a little chasty this week as a result of their Elgin car having won the hill climb at the Pioneer picnic at Wadsworth on Saturday last. Gigantic Feature Added to Circus

Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey
Program Includes Europe's Great Wild Animal Show.

With Europe's biggest trained animal show as one of many splendid features, the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows will exhibit afternoon and night at Chicago from Saturday, July 30, to Sunday night, August 14.

This marvel circus of 1921 offers the greatest congress of attractions in history. Without eliminating any of the thousand thrills produced by hundreds of the most skillful men and women performers, the Ringling Brothers have added, without additional charge, the most sensational of wild beast displays. Not only will you see the artists who occupy the three rings, five stages, the great hippodrome track and the aerial rigging in the tent top, but four spacious steel arenas filled with wild beasts as well.

Tigers riding peacefully on the backs of elephants, black-mailed African lions springing to and from galloping horses, great troupes of polar bears walking ropes or playing at see-saw, leopards jumping through hoops of fire—these are some of the marvelous things that these wonderful animals do. While these beautiful creatures are under absolute control, they are presented only in great arenas of steel. Elsewhere in the main tent you will see camels performing much after the fashion of horses—an act never before presented anywhere. There are five troupes of trained seals, whole herds of remarkable dogs, monkeys, pigs and pigeons. Twenty-six elephants will perform at one time. Others will do tricks at the top of high pedestals and others circle the entire tent, kicking footballs as they go. Splendid groups of trained stallions, Shetlands and menage horses form another feature. Aside from the dumb actors are fully 600 men and women stars, and nearly 100 clowns. A gorgeous tournament opens the program. The Menagerie, which is entirely separate from the animals used in the circus performances, is the biggest ever traveled.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

"We'll rest now," Dan told them at ten o'clock. "The sun is warm enough so that we won't need much of a fire. And we'll try to get five hours' sleep."

"Too long, if we're going to make it out," Lennox objected.

"That leaves a workday of nineteen hours," Dan persisted. "Not any too little. Five hours it will be."

He found where the snow had drifted against a great, dead log, leaving the white covering only a foot in depth on the lee side. He began to scrape the snow away, then hacked at the log with his ax until he had procured a piece of comparatively dry wood from its center. They all stood breathless while he lighted the little pile of kindling and heaped it with green wood—the only wood procurable. But it didn't burn freely. It smoked fitfully, threatening to die out, and emitting very little heat.

But they didn't particularly care. The sun was warm above, as always in the mountain winters of southern Oregon. Snowbird and Dan cleared spaces beside the fire and slept. Lennox, who had rested on the journey, lay on his sled and with his uninjured arm tried to hack enough wood from the saplings that Dan had cut to keep the fire burning.

At three they got up, still tired and aching in their bones from exposure. Twenty-four hours had passed since they had tasted food, and their unrelenting systems complained. There is no better engine in the wide world than the human body. It will stand more neglect and abuse than the finest steel motors ever made by the hands of craftsmen. A man may fast many days if he lies quietly in one place and keeps warm. But fasting is a deadly proposition while pulling sledges over the snow.

Dan was less hopeful now. His face told what his words did not. The lines cleft deeper about his lips and eyes; and Snowbird's heart ached when he tried to encourage her with a smile. It was a wan, strange smile that couldn't quite hide the first sickness of despair.

The shadows quickly lengthened—simply leaping over the snow from the fast-falling sun. The twilight deepened, the snow turned gray, and then, in a vague way, the journey began to partake of a quality of unreality. It was not that the cold and the snow and their hunger were not entirely real, or that the wilderness was no longer naked to their eyes. It was just that their whole effort seemed like some dreadful, unburdened journey in a dream—a stumbling advance under difficulties too many and real to be true.

The first sign was the far-off cry of the wolf pack. It was very faint, simply a stir in the eardrums, yet it was entirely clear. That clear, cold mountain air was a perfect telephone system, conveying a message distinctly, no matter how faintly. There were no tall buildings or cities to disturb the ether waves. And all three of them knew at the same instant it was not exactly the cry they had heard before.

They couldn't have told just why, even if they had wished to talk about it. In some dim way, it had lost the strange quality of despair it had held before. It was as if the pack were running with renewed life, that each wolf was calling to another with a dreadful sort of exultation. It was an excited cry, too—not the long, sad song they had learned to listen for. It sounded immediately behind them.

They couldn't help but listen. No human ears could have shut out the sound. But none of them pretended that they had heard. And this was the worst sign of all. Each one of the three was hoping against hope in his very heart; and at the same time, hoping that the others did not understand. For a long time, as the darkness deepened about them, the forests were still. Perhaps, Dan thought, he had been mistaken after all. His shoulders straightened. Then the chorus blared again.

The man looked back at the girl, smiling into her eyes. Lennox lay as if asleep, the lines of his dark face curiously pronounced. And the girl, because she was of the mountains, body and soul, answered Dan's smile. Then they knew that all of them knew the truth. Not even an inexperienced ear could have any delusions about the pack song now. It was that oldest of wilderness songs, the hunting cry—that frenzied song of blood-lust that the wolf pack utters when it is running on the trail of game. It had found the track of living flesh at last.

"There's no use stopping, or trying to climb a tree," Dan told them simply. "In the first place, Lennox can't do it. In the second, we've got to take a chance—for cold and hunger can get up a tree where the wolf pack can't."

He spoke wholly without emotion. Once more he tightened the traces of the sled.

"I've heard that sometimes the pack will chase a man for days without attacking," Lennox told them. "It all depends on how long they've gone without food. Keep on and try to forget 'em. Maybe we can keep 'em bluffed."

But as the hours passed, it became increasingly difficult to forget the wolf pack. It was only a matter of turning the head and peering for an instant into the shadows to catch a glimpse of one of the creatures. Their usual fear of men, always their first emotion, had given way wholly to a hunting cunning; an effort to procure their game without too great risk of their own lives. In the desperation of their hunger they could not remember such things as the fear of men. They spread out farther, and at last Dan looked up to find one of the gray beasts waiting, like a shadow himself, in the shadow of a tree not one hundred feet from the sled. Snowbird whipped out her pistol.

"Don't dare!" Dan's voice cracked out to her. He didn't speak loudly; yet the words came so sharp and commanding, so like pistol fire itself, that they penetrated into her consciousness and choked back the nervous reflexes that in an instant might have lost them one of their three precious shells. She caught herself with a sob. Dan shouted at the wolf, and it melted into the shadows.

"You won't do it again, Snowbird?" he asked her very humbly. But his meaning was clear. He was not so skilled with a pistol as she; but if her nerves were breaking, the gun must be taken from her hands. The three shells must be saved to the moment of utmost need.

"No," she told him, looking straight into his eyes. "I won't do it again."

He believed her. He knew that she spoke the truth. He met her eyes with a half smile. Then, wholly without warning, Fate played its last trump. Again the wilderness reminded them of its might, and their brave spirits were almost broken by the utter remorselessness of the blow. The girl went on her face with a crack of wood.

"Maybe We Can Keep Them Bluffed."

Her snow shoe had been cracked by her fall of the day before, when running to the fire, and whether she struck some other obstruction in the snow, or whether the cracked wood had simply given way under her weight, mattered not even enough for them to investigate. As in all great disasters, only the result remained. The result in this case was that her snowshoe, without which she could not walk at all in the snow, was irreparably broken.

"Fate has stacked the cards against us," Lennox told them, after the first moment's horror from the broken snowshoe.

But no one answered him. The girl, white-faced, kept her wide eyes on Dan. He seemed to be peering into the shadows beside the trail, as if he were watching for the gray forms that now and then glided from tree to tree. In reality, he was not looking for wolves. He was gazing down into his own soul, measuring his own spirit for the trial that lay before him.

The girl, unable to step with the broken snowshoe, rested her weight on one foot and hobbled like a bird with broken wings across to him. No sight of all this terrible journey had been more dreadful in her father's eyes than this. It seemed to split open the strong heart of the man. She touched her hand to his arm.

"I'm sorry, Dan," she told him. "You tried so hard—"

Just one little sound broke from his throat—a strange, deep gasp that could not be suppressed. Then he caught her hand in his and kissed it—cautiously, as if he were afraid to hurt her. "Do you think I care again and again?" he asked. "I only wish I could have done more. Just what I have done doesn't count. Just what is in my fight with Cranston, nothing counts because I didn't win. It's just fate, Snowbird. It's no one's fault, but maybe, in this world, nothing is ever anyone's fault." For in the twilight of those winter woods, in the shadow of death itself, perhaps he was catching glimpses of eternal truths that are hidden from all but the most far-seeing eyes.

"And this is the end?" she asked him. She spoke very bravely.

"No!" His hand tightened on hers. "No, so long as an ounce of strength remains. To fight—never to give up—may God give me spirit for it (ill I die."

And this was no idle prayer. His eyes raised to the starry sky as he spoke.

"But, son," Lennox asked him rather quietly, "what can you do? The wolves aren't going to wait a great deal longer, and we can't go on."

"There's one thing more—one more trial to make," Dan answered. "I thought about it at first, but it was too long a chance to try if there was any other way. And I suppose you thought of it too."

"Overruling Cranston?"

"Of course. And it sounds like a crazy dream. But listen, both of you. If we have got to die, up here in the snow—and it looks like we had—what is the thing you want done worst before we go?"

Lennox's hands clasped, and he leaned forward on the sled. "Pay Cranston!" he said.

"Yes!" Dan's voice rang. "Cranston's never going to be paid unless we do it. There will be no signs of incendiarism at the house, and no proofs. They'll find our bodies in the snow, and we'll just be a mystery, with no one made to pay. The evidence in my pocket will be taken by Cranston, some time this winter. If I don't make him pay, he never will pay. And that's one reason why I'm going to try to carry out this plan I've got."

"The second reason is that it's the one hope we have left. I take it that none of us are deceived on that point. And no man can die calmly—if he is a man—while there's a chance. I mean a young man, like me—not one who is old and tired. It sounds perfectly silly to talk about finding Cranston's winter quarters, and then, with my bare hands, conquering him, taking his food and his blankets and his snowshoes and his rifle, to fight away these wolves, and bringing 'em back here."

"You wouldn't be barehanded," the girl reminded him. "You could have the pistol."

He didn't even seem to hear her. "I've been thinking about it. It's a long, long chance—much worse than the chance we had of getting out by straight walking. I think we could have made it. If the wolves had kept off and the snowshoe hadn't broken. It would have nearly killed us, but I believe we could have got out. That's why I didn't try this other way first. A man with his bare hands hasn't much of a chance against another with a rifle, and I don't want you to be too hopeful. And of course, the hardest problem is finding his camp."

"But I do feel sure of one thing: that he is back to his old trapping line on the North Fork—somewhere south of here—and his camp is somewhere on the river. I think he would have gone there so that he could cut off any attempt I might make to get through with those letters. My plan is to start back at an angle that will carry me between the North Fork and our old house. Somewhere in there I'll find his tracks, the tracks he made when he first came over to burn up the house. I suppose he was careful to mix 'em up after once he arrived here, but the first part of the way he likely walked straight toward the house from his camp. Somewhere, if I go that way, I'll cross his trail—with 10 miles at least. Then I'll back-track him to his camp."

"And never come back!" the girl cried.

"Maybe not. But at least everything that can be done will be done. Nothing will be left. No regrets. We will have made the last trial. I'm not going to waste any time, Snowbird. The sooner we get your fire built the better."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Make Love and Live Long.

The act of love-making has a direct influence on the heart and blood, says a medical correspondent. It stimulates the working capacity of the former organ, and keeps it up to concert pitch. As a result, the blood circulates with greater strength, and every part of the body is accordingly strengthened. Love-making, moreover, has a very decided influence in stimulating the working of the liver. Patting medicines would have to go out of business to a considerable extent if the world were more generally given to the art of making love with genuine feeling. Perhaps the most striking proof of the immunity of lovers from one form of ill, viz., colds and chills, is afforded by the fact that a pair of Cupid's devotees will sit on a damp bench for hours and take no harm.

It is just as wise to watch your feelings as it is to wind your watch.

Every Time I Sit Down to a Juicy Steak Now I Give Thanks to Tanlac, He Declares.

"Every time I sit down to a juicy steak now I give thanks to Tanlac for taking me off that milk and mush diet I had to live on for a year," said Joseph R. Towns, the well-known and popular proprietor of the Sanitary Meat Market, of Marshall, Mich.

"I had stomach trouble of the worst sort and was going down hill so fast I thought I would have to give up my business. I was so nervous and worried I dreaded to see night come, as it meant little for me and then in the morning I was so fagged out I dreaded to go to my market."

"The money I spent for Tanlac was the best investment I ever made. I never dreamed a medicine could do the work it did for me. Three bottles was all I needed to make me as sound as a dollar. I never felt better or more like working in my life than I do right now. I eat anything I want, my stomach is in good shape and I am brimful of energy. I sleep all night without turning over and get up in the morning as happy as a boy."

"Not only has Tanlac made me feel fit and fine, but I have also gained twenty-five pounds in weight. If anybody wants to know more about what I think of Tanlac let them come to me and I will be glad to tell them. It certainly hasn't an equal."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

In the olden days there lived in the vicinity of Shelby a sheepherder named Bill. Bill, like most members of his profession, was wont to work faithfully for the greater part of the year and then blow into town and waste his substance in a short period of riotous living. Returning from one of those trips broke, his employer asked him:

"Bill, you left here with $400. What became of it?"

Bill studied for a minute and replied:

"Well, I reckon I lost about a hundred an' fifty in a stud game. I must a left 'bout a hundred at the Fashion Dance hall, an' I reckon I spent close to a hundred for booze."

"What did you do with the other fifty?" persisted his boss.

YET MOTHER WASN'T PLEASED

Little Son's Suggestion Certainly Hopeful, but for Some Reason Not Comforting.

A Columbus mother of a five-year-old son is also the unwilling possessor of two corns, both on one toe. Yesterday the corns were unusually painful.

"It wouldn't be so terrible if it were only one corn," she moaned, "but two! And both on one toe. It is the limit."

The little son listened with deep distress. He gazed at the pointed shoe and at the mother's frowning face, seemingly in deep and painful meditation. Suddenly his face brightened. "Say, mother," he exclaimed, "corns grow, don't they?"

"Why, yes," replied the mother.

"Mine get bigger every day, but what of it?"

"Well," he replied hopefully, "the corns will soon grow into one and then it won't be nearly so bad, will it?"—Indianapolis News.

Being Nice to Uncle.

Uncle had been invited to dine and was especially impressed by the consideration shown him by the little niece.

"Frances," he said to her, "you are a very nice little girl to ask me to have more soup. Now, why do you want me to have it?"

Frances was distressingly frank in explanation. "So," she returned, "you won't eat so much of the turkey as you did the last time."—Exchange.

A Warm Night.

"This dancer seems to be wearing more bands than usual."

"That's perspiration."

Home is all the dearer to some men because they are never there.
